- You are at a stage of life when there are choices to be made.
- You are part way through your working life and want to think about a different direction.
- Perhaps your responsibilities for children have changed and there is more scope for you deciding how to use your time and energy.
- Maybe you are recovering from a midlife shock and are reviewing what next.
- Or you are in the sandwich years with responsibilities for parents and children.

How do you review your priorities, garner your energy, shape your future and explore possibilities?

Donations much appreciated towards the charity Tearfund
