A new year has begun! I always have a sense of sadness at the beginning of a New Year (not sure if others do?), looking back at the year just gone to those I miss who are no longer here and to the sad news we hear around the world. However, I can commit to living on with the legacy loved ones, close friends and church family have left me - not materially but the love and care they have shown. My New Year Resolution is to try and love more, cultivate peace and harmony, pray more, have more grace (and broader shoulders) and have a day off completely each week! A happy, healthy, peaceful and blessed New Year to everyone!

From The Pastor's Desk

In the days before satnavs, a bright red sports car screeched to a halt at a country crossroads, and shouted to an old man sitting on a bench, "Can you direct me to London, please?" "No, I can't," he replied. "Then which road to Oxford?" he asked. "Can't rightly say," answered the old man. "You don't know much, do you?" asked the young man sarcastically. "No, I don't know much," replied the uncommunicative old man. "But I'm not lost!" Life is full of crossroads when we are faced with a choice of what decision to make or what direction to go in.

Choices that have to be made; we can't stand still. Choices have consequences and unless you make the right choice you end up being hopelessly lost.

When we are young the choices are made for us, but we hopefully learn how to make good choices for ourselves. Even later in life there are still crossroads to be faced - choices which become increasingly difficult as faculties decline and fears increase. The need to make choices never ends; there's a crossroad just around the corner.

Unfortunately, many of us have grown up in a family or culture that favours independence where we make our own decisions without reference to anyone else. It is at the crossroads in life that we need help, somebody who, unlike the old man in the story, has a word of wisdom to impart.

In the Good News Bible, Jeremiah 6:16, the Lord says "Stand at the crossroads and look. Ask for the ancient paths and where the best road is. Walk on it, and you will live in peace." He is the one to go to when we are faced with decisions and choices. He gives us wisdom as we talk things over with him directly or through others. He wants us to find the best road that leads to living in peace. Don't try and manage alone, or you might end up lost, and that's not good.

I'm always available to listen and willing to help at any time.

A Blessed Union in India – A Celebration of Faith and Family

In October, Gowtham and I had the lovely opportunity to attend Gowtham's brother(Kiran Kumar) wedding in Vijayawada, Andhra Pradesh in Southern India. It was a truly memorable occasion, filled with love, laughter, and family togetherness.

The celebrations began the evening before the wedding when all the family and relatives gathered together. We started with some songs and prayers, thanking God for bringing us all together. Later, we had the Haldi ceremony, where we anointed the groom with holy oil and applied gandham (sandalwood paste) as part of our Indian tradition. It is a traditional Indian pre-wedding ritual where family members apply a paste of turmeric to the bride or groom. It symbolises blessing, protection, and a fresh start. Turmeric is believed to bring good health and a natural glow for the big day.

After that came the fun part! Once the formal rituals were done, everyone started playing with water — splashing, laughing, and enjoying every moment. It was such a joyful and honestly, it was lovely seeing everyone of all ages getting stuck in and enjoying themselves.

The next morning, we got ready in special Indian attire and went to the church for the wedding ceremony of Kiran Kumari(Groom) and Divya(Bride). The church looked beautiful, and there were around 800 guests gathered to bless the couple on their special day. The ceremony began with songs, followed by prayers and a thoughtful sermon from the pastor. After this, the couple exchanged garlands, rings, and vows, all carried out in such a warm and graceful way. The exchange of garlands is a traditional Indian wedding custom where the bride and groom place flower garlands around each other's necks. It symbolises mutual respect, acceptance, and the beginning of their life together as equals. It was a simple yet beautiful service, filled with love and blessings from family and friends.

After the ceremony, everyone joined for a lovely lunch. The atmosphere was full of joy, smiles, and heartfelt conversations. It truly felt like a day blessed by God — one that reminded me how wonderful it is when families come together in love and faith.

It was a day to remember, and we felt grateful to be part of such a meaningful and joyful celebration.

Preethi and Gowtham.

Called to Go from Godalming Baptist Church

By Jonathan (Jono) Chamberlain

My calling to go on cross-cultural mission for God is intertwined with GBC. Growing up in a family committed to following Jesus and who worshipped here, I was part of the Sunday school under the leadership of Fred Barnes and then Tom Vince. Years later when on home leave from Indonesia Evelyn Barnes told me that as a 5-year-old in her Infant class I had told her, "I'm going to be a missionary when I grow up!"

The infant class met in the upper room that was accessed by an outdoor staircase fixed to the side of the original church building. On the wall of the upper room there was a coloured picture of a seated Jesus welcoming children of all skin colours. I can still visualise that picture and wonder if it may have influenced my childhood ambition. However, it was following the 1958 Sunday School anniversary event that this nine-year-old boy knelt by his bed and knowingly received Jesus as his Saviour. The anniversary was always held in the Borough Hall as the church was considered too small to accommodate all the parents and visitors. The guest speaker used creative visual aids that were rarely seen in the weekly classes. The gospel message was communicated in a fresh way and clearly got through to me!

Jonathon at 9 years old

Missionaries and a Cat

In our family prayer times I remember praying for Herbert Rowe in China, Eileen Coates in India, the Secretts in Congo, the Winterfloods in Nigeria, Betty Cox in Taiwan, and the Jarvises in Mexico, all 'sent out' from GBC. And later Eddie Smith in Chad became the most prayed for of them all as he had been a close family friend and childhood hero to me and my brothers!

From the age of 11 I had a growing desire to be a Vet after a friendly neighbour lady saw me stroking a cat in the street and said, "You're good with animals, you should be a Vet!"

First Baptism and a Bible Verse

The excitement when the new church building opened in 1963 was a significant year for my personal discipleship. Michael Frost was the minister. The very first time the baptistry was used in the new building I was among the baptismal candidates. Apart from being 'given a scripture verse' for the occasion, we were expected to give a brief testimony before stepping down into the water before being baptised by Michael Frost. I was given Proverbs 3:5-6, and recall saying, "At this point in my life I want to become a Vet. But if the Lord has something different for me, I know that if I acknowledge Him in all my ways, He will direct my path."

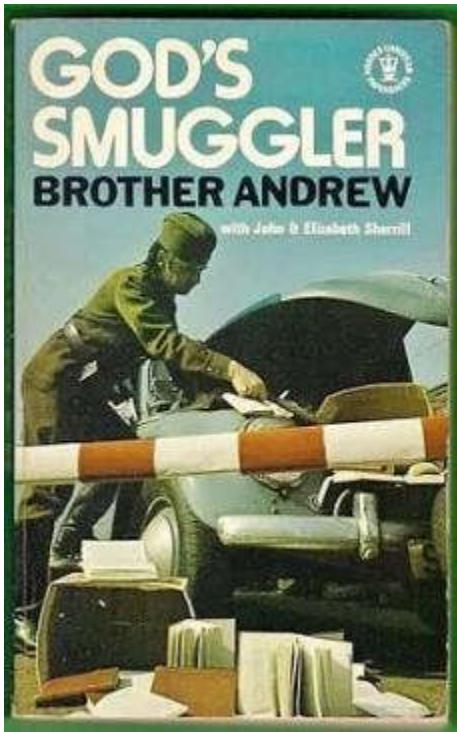

Canada and Mexico

Well, He did just that. My family left Godalming in November 1966 to emigrate to Canada. While at university doing foundation courses to prepare for specialising in Veterinary medicine the Lord spoke to me in a strange way. "Why are you preparing to give your life to work with animals when people are more important to me?" * I was taken aback but knew He was directing me to take a first step along a different pathway. Steps that followed were switching my major to Psychology with a science background to earn a BSc; taking a gap year in Mexico to guide the two Jarvis boys through their home schooling curriculum; and attending the WEC Missionary Training College in Glasgow. How did I end up there? It was not on my radar even though I later realised it was where Eddie Smith had trained, and Brian Butcher, son of the GBC church secretary Sid Butcher. Brian continued on to train for the Baptist ministry.

Smuggler's Book and Glasgow

During the Mexico gap year I was asking the Lord to guide me as to where I should train for fulltime ministry of some sort. Missionary work was not specifically in my thinking at that time though I clearly was influenced positively by the Jarvis family's example. I had taken a number of books with me to read while in Chiapas. One of these was "God's Smuggler" by Brother Andrew. As it happened, he had trained at the Glasgow WEC MTC. His description of the training in the early chapters of the book convinced me that this was where I was meant to go. So, despite receiving college brochures from a number of other Theological colleges in North America it was to MTC Glasgow that I applied. Without internet there was no way of finding the address. But from the narrative of the book I could work it out (minus a postal code). Amazingly there were three other students in my cohort that also discovered the college through reading "God's Smuggler"!

Being at a college run by WEC introduced me to the WEC missionary agency and, incidentally, to a fellow student Linda Townsend who was later to become my wife. But that's another exciting story!

God-Incidents and Java

While at the Missionary Training College we received news from those serving around the world. We prayed for them. We met some of them who came to speak and teach while on home leave. And through this exposure the Lord began to put Java, Indonesia on my heart. A specific call of God to go to a certain people or part of the world is always unique for each person. Our God is creative and does not conform to an expected pattern. For me there were a number of factors that the Lord used to confirm the sense I was feeling that He wanted me to serve in Indonesia among the Javanese:

- Being assigned to share testimony and sing at a weekend mission conference where Rev Eric Alexander (well-known at the time) spoke passionately about the spiritual needs and opportunities he had seen in Indonesia during his very recent ministry visit there. I knew God was speaking to me.

Entrance gateway of WEC MTC Glasgow with "Have Faith in God" arch. I am not among the students pictured, though Linda is!

- Receiving a birthday card from a fellow student with the Deuteronomy 11:11-12 reference:

“But the land you are crossing the Jordan to take possession of is a land of mountains and valleys... It is a land the LORD your God cares for, the eyes of the LORD your God are continually on it from the beginning of the year to the end.”

Although the context of the passage was God’s word through Moses for the Israelites as they faced crossing into the promised land, it was God’s specific word to me in my context.

I discovered that Java was indeed a land of mountains and valleys and that in recent years there had been a significant move of God with many choosing to identify themselves as Christians but desperately needing to be taught what it meant to be followers of Jesus. The call from workers in Java was for missionaries to come and teach the Bible and to train those who found themselves responsible for groups of “Christians” when they themselves had very little Bible knowledge. The very ministry I felt the Lord was putting on my heart!
- Herbert Rowe and his Canadian wife had retired in Canada. When visiting him he said, “I’ve got something that you might be interested in.” He proceeded to hand me a book by David Bentley-Taylor about the author’s experience of ‘Christian Progress in Muslim Java’. I was amazed and fascinated by the book which drew my heart towards the Javanese people.
- I told no one what was going on in me regarding Indonesia. The first person I reluctantly told was my Grandfather. While staying with him during a college holiday I joined him on his daily constitutional walk. “So where is God calling you to serve?” he enquired with great interest. “I’m still praying about it”, I said cagily. “You must have some idea” he persisted. “Any particular area of the world?” “Well I think it might be in Asia,” I responded thinking that would satisfy him. But no, “What country are you thinking of?” he pressed. Finally I committed myself - “I believe God is calling me to Indonesia”, I admitted. I felt a great sense of relief, and an awareness that I could never have said Congo or Colombia or India or any other country. It would simply not have been true. A peace settled over my heart that Indonesia was indeed God’s calling for me.

Commissioning and Support

After emigrating to Canada in 1966 I had become quite involved in a local church. I was elected ‘president’ of the young people’s group and asked to be a ‘pastoral presence’ for the Sunday School at the age of 19. However, after my time at uni when I shared God’s leading to Bible training in Glasgow the church leadership showed no interest in encouraging or supporting me. So it seemed the most natural thing to spend most of my holiday breaks from the Glasgow college in Godalming to reconnect with the 'Queen Street' family where I had grown up. It was a joy to find that the mission interest of the church was alive and well. By the time I had graduated and officially joined WEC UK, Godalming Baptist was keen to recognise my God-given calling by support in prayer and finance. Ron Hanley had set up a brilliant scheme for mission support called the Ambassadors Fund. Charles Campbell, the church leadership and congregation commissioned me in October 1975 shortly before I left for Indonesia. What a privilege!

Over the years

'Missionary
Secretaries' of the church (Eileen
Coates (?); Tony &
Nan Burgess; Eric &

Barbara Jarman; Margaret Stickler) kept the congregation informed and many received my prayer letters. Tony & Nan even visited us in Java.

I am so grateful for the role of GBC in my life and have never regretted being called to Go by the Lord of the Harvest.

PART 2 about the call to go to Singapore will follow another time.

Edith & Nick Hetherington

Recently, as members of the Church you will know we celebrated our Diamond Wedding Anniversary on the 1st of May.

Sally, bless her, had suggested that we might in write a few words on what we had done in our lives to bring us to this milestone.

Edith and I met in Uganda; I went there in mid-1962 and Edith early in 1963. She was there with the British Medical Research Council as a nursing sister in a unit researching the causes of malnutrition in infants, I was there working with the Agriculture Department. I spent the first two years at an Agricultural College near Kampala. Training students in Machinery and Building.

I arrived in Uganda as a result in the winter in 1961 having been so cold. Edith had completed her nursing training in Belfast moved to Glasgow to study midwifery they had a very cold flat. One might say we met because of British winter weather, though in an away place.

I met Edith frequently times over the next months during time which I had been posted Gulu the main town in the Northern Region of Uganda. Now some 200 miles away from Kampala, giving rise to longer week-end commutes. During 1964 we became engaged and were married on the 1st of May 1965.

Edith left the MRC and following a trip back to UK joined me in the North. I was engaged in Land Use Planning and in development of Kibbutz type farming groups. We had a rudimentary caravan on the sites and a house in Gulu.

Later I completed my contract with the UG Government and joined a small company setting up Arabica Coffee processing by Local Cooperatives in the Southwestern Region a mountainous area. We installed the collection of the coffee "cherry", payment, processing and preparation of the "green beans" sent by road to Nairobi for sale, some 650 miles away. Edith worked as a volunteer in vaccination campaigns with the local vaccination team until she became pregnant with Siobhan our first daughter.

Siobhan was born in the Mengo Mission Hospital in Kampala. We found later that Winifred Barnes, known well to older members of GBC, was Matron at the time.

Siobhan was "adopted" as one of hers when we arrived at GBC.

Early in 1969 we decided to leave the country as the Army under Idi Amin was getting out of hand.

Back in UK I rapidly found work with Birds Eye Foods [Unilever] as a Fieldsman/Agronomist in North Norfolk near the town of North Walsham where we bought a house. Edith had found evening nursing shifts in another food processing factory. This gave her a break from looking after our young children as well as bringing welcome income to the family. We enjoyed the social life in Round Table and Ladies Circle in North Walsham.

After a time, the Unilever HR computer turned me up as a candidate to start a new Oil Palm Plantation in Ghana. We were there in fairly short order and rapidly got to grips with food and soft drink shortages, as well as finding the local library. Hooray for the British Council and their work. At this stage Edith was "teacher" to our two girls. Later when they returned to school in Northern Ireland, she was congratulated on their progress. From this point on both girls were in boarding schools in Belfast for the rest of their schooling. Great for one of them, not so good for the other.

There are many views on Oil Palm production, all I would say is that our international consumption of vegetable oil products would be very different without palm oil which provides up to seven to ten times more vegetable oil per hectare, than any other oil seed crop.

After three years, the company moved us to Cameroun to the forest area next to Nigeria, to the N'dian Plantation, access by river only normally an eight hour trip! We, particularly Edith, had many escapades with various boats. We later decided to leave this remote plantation and were back in UK early in 1980.

In the process of looking for another job I came across the Commonwealth Development Corporation, UK's development bank, and was quickly employed by them based on the fact that the Chief Agriculturist of CDC having been my Director in Uganda, it's a small world for those with my skills. CDC sent us to Swaziland to a small Management Training Centre where we undertook training courses for managers, largely from CDC farms or investments. Swaziland was a wonderful place to be. Lots of social life with the communities on neighbouring Sugar Plantations. Great supermarkets just over the border in South Africa, and one of the entry "Gates" to the Kruger Game Park only an hour's drive north from the Campus

All easy things end, and I was posted as Manager to Tanzania, to the deep southwest to a town called Njombe. TANWAT, the company, had a very large area of Black Wattle trees from the bark of which leather tanning products are made. The trunk wood being used to fire the electricity generators to supply the farm and Njombe township. The farm also had large areas of wheat and maize sold as food crops via the National Milling Company.

Tanzania had food shortages at the time, due to a failed social experiment by the policies of Julius Nyere. We expatriates had to import food from UK to get an adequate diet, another challenge. Edith became involved again with vaccination campaigns, largely as we had a freezer in which to store vaccines, and what's more, a reliable electrical supply.

After three years, just when we had got settled, I was posted to Ivory Coast. Another language change, three weeks on an immersive French language course.

For most of my posting to Cote d'Ivoire Edith stayed in our new home in Godalming and was Head of Care at the Meath Home. Overseeing the transition from Victorian type "wards" to individual bedrooms and semi-independent living in cottages in the grounds.

The Job in CI, as Directeur Technique was to reopen an abandoned irrigated sugar plantation as a seed multiplication farm to allow seeds of Rice, Maize and Soya Beans to be distribution throughout the country. The CI Government' vision was to replace low yielding older local varieties of these crops with higher producing varieties and thereby increasing the nations staple food crops and avoid importing these grains.

After three years in CI, the reconversion of "Projet Serebou" as the farm was called was completed and I was called to join the CDC UK in the London office as a Natural Resources Advisor. Looking after a team of Agriculturists, Foresters, and Financial analysis. I managed to put myself on some of the investment opportunity visits, particularly to countries that I had not visited. Edith joined me on a three-week trip to Thailand, not on the African visits. She said she had worn out her "T" shirts for those countries.

From 1995 to 2000 when I had to retire, I spent many weeks of travel each year as Director and Chairman of several large agricultural Estates/Plantations in Kenya, Zambia, Malawi and Botswana and a Rubber plantation in Cote d'Ivoire.

Edith retained a link with the Meath Home in various posts as well as a Community Nursing role in the area. Our two daughters completed their university degrees and we remained in Godalming enjoying the community.

After my retirement from CDC, I was able to put more effort into Trust for Africa's Orphans, an NGO I had joined as a side line from 1998. I continued with this work in Uganda as a project writer and Agricultural Advisor until the close of the NGO in 2015.

From that time any connection with overseas Agriculture has been done on a computer.

Edith's work in the Community slowed down and she "retired" with a long connection with the Toddler Group in GBC.

Jean McNulty

Jean McNulty was a faithful member at GBC for many years and helped at Friendship Lunch etc before her move to live with her daughter Nicola and family. A lovely lady with a beautiful smile, never complaining, despite the increasing limitations with her MS. She is loved and remembered fondly.

Jean Valerie McNulty was a woman of elegance, courage, humour, and love. She was born on 15th February 1937 in Walthamstow, East London, the much-loved daughter of Emily and William Smith, affectionately known as Amy and Frank. She was one of three children, with her older, late brother Stan and her younger sister Wendy.

She grew up at 9 Ross Avenue, Goodmayes, the family home that remained part of her life for many years, even when she had her children. Nikki still recalls visiting her grandad Frank there as a child.

The Second World War shaped Jean's early childhood. She was only two when it started, and just seven when it finished, yet those years are vividly imprinted in her memory: blacked-out windows, an Anderson shelter in the garden, and their clever spaniel Chum, who would scratch at the back door whenever he sensed the planes approaching even before the sirens sounded, to warn them.

The war caused chaos. Her nana lost her home to a bomb. Jean remembered going with her mother as she looked for a spare room where her mum could stay.

Eventually, it became too risky to stay in the East End, and Jean, her mum, and her brother Stan were evacuated to Newquay in Cornwall, where, despite the fears of those days, they found kindness and even happy memories by the sea.

Her dad, Frank, was away much of the time, driving oil tankers across the country. She remembered the darkened train journeys to Cornwall, as no lights were allowed to shine out. The family cases were too heavy for her mother to lift until soldiers stepped in to help get them aboard the train.

But alongside these challenges, Jean's childhood was filled with happiness. Family holidays to Walton-on-the-Naze with Stan and Wendy brought laughter, particularly when Auntie Hilda knitted swimsuits, made with care for Jean and her friend. They soaked up so much seawater that they dragged on the girls' ankles. It was a story that still made Wendy laugh many decades later, as she remembers helping Jean to cover up to save her blushes.

Jean developed into a bright, independent teenager. School wasn't her passion; she "couldn't wait to leave", as she often said, but she was practical and full of aspirations, she learned Pitman shorthand and, with it, gained good jobs in London. London in the late 1950s and early 60s was an exciting place to be.

Jean thrived in her work, whether with real estate brokers, Jones Lang Wootton, or later timber merchants, Price and Pierce, where her path crossed with a young man named Robin McNulty.

She also appreciated the social aspect of city life. She often reminisced about how she managed to see performers who would become so iconic without knowing them: Frank Sinatra at the Festival Hall, Judy Garland, and Bing Crosby at the Palladium. Tickets were purchased at the last minute, and seats were at the back, but they were treasured moments all the same.

In September 1963, Jean and Robin married, honeymooning in Sitges, Spain, beginning a marriage that would last 35 years until Robin's death in 1998. Together, they built a loving family home, first in Newbury Park, where their daughter Nicola was born in 1968, and then in 1974, when their son Jonathan arrived. Their family was everything to them.

Jean and Robin gave Nikki and Jonny the gift of travel and adventure. They took many trips to France by car and ferry, with Robin happily driving, Nikki navigating, and Jean relegated to the back seat with Jonny after proving a “hopeless” map reader.

Through Robin’s work contacts, there was also an extraordinary family trip to Finland, on board a cargo ship through the North Sea and Baltic, then staying in a summer house on a remote island, with milk churns, fishing, fires by night, and the magic of endless summer days.

Jean’s love of travel from her youth, when she went on a post-war exchange to Germany and fell in love with exploring the wider world, remained with her always. That curiosity and openness persisted throughout her life.

Jean also possessed a wonderful sense of humour, but she had a mischievous, tomboyish streak. As a teenager, she was once ejected from a cinema for being rowdy. Later in life, her adventures, sometimes accidental, became legendary family stories.

Her husband, Robin, loved to tease her endlessly with jokes because she was so gullible, but always in good humour and with love. At work in the 1960s, she was nicknamed “Smudger Smith”, a name her friend Keith Martin never stopped using.

Animals were another constant joy in her life.

From Chum, the wartime spaniel, to Bessie, the elegant German Pointer who became her shadow, sitting alongside when she drove her car, Brodie, the springer collie cross or her laid-back ginger cat named Marmaduke, who moved up north with her.

Her resilience also defined Jean. Diagnosed with MS at just 18, she lived with it for more than 70 years. She refused to let it control her life. She fought to preserve her independence, learning to drive, even if it took seven attempts and a week-long migraine, later adapting her car with hand controls, and zooming here, there, and everywhere. She even volunteered for early medical trials, trying hyperbaric oxygen therapy. She never complained. She persisted and always surprised the experts with how much she could achieve.

When a doctor once asked why he hadn't seen her about her MS, she replied matter-of-factly, "Well, you can't cure it, so I don't need to see you." She never liked to make a fuss.

Jean was a woman of style, substance, humour, and heart. She carried herself with calm and dignity, yet she was also full of sparkle. In her younger years, she was elegant, yes, but also resilient, funny, creative, and always quietly determined.

She was a devoted wife to Robin, a loving mum to Nikki and Jonny, a proud grandma to Alfie and Ben, a caring sister to Wendy, a special aunt, and a loyal friend to Jill, Rosemary, Janet and Keith, Don and Margaret, and many others.

Jill came from London several times to see Jean, most recently while she was in the hospital, which delighted Jean beyond words.

Jean Valerie McNulty, so dearly loved and never to be forgotten.

for those living with Multiple Sclerosis

Stripey Stork support families in Surrey and Croydon who are experiencing hardship with the essential items they need for their children.

We collect donations of toys, clothes and other essential items for babies and children aged 0-18. We check them for quality and safety and rehome them with families who need them.

We work with referral partners who support families (food banks, schools, Citizen Advice, housing associations, family centres, GP's and health services, children's services, domestic abuse support services, the police and any other professional supporting families.)

At Stripey Stork we firstly always try and meet the request using the donated items we already have in stock. We have a monthly wishlist that we use to tell our supporters what we need – this enables us to support families with donations received or we put out a request to our supporters via our Facebook and Twitter page for missing items.

Most importantly, Stripey Stork prides itself on passing on items in great condition. We want the families who receive items from us to feel like they are receiving a gift and not a handout.

Samson Centre for MS

The Samson Centre is here to support anyone living with MS. We are often asked what stage you need to be at to benefit from our services and the answer is, any stage. From people who have been recently diagnosed and are looking for reassurance to people with progressive MS symptoms, we are here for you.

We believe that exercise helps people with MS to manage their symptoms, keeping them mobile and their muscles moving. For lots of people, oxygen therapy can also help to relieve some MS symptoms.

We are very fortunate to be able to offer physiotherapy, gym sessions and oxygen therapy all under one roof.

The Samson Centre was set up for people with MS, by people with MS. We provide essential services, not available through the NHS and without government funding, that help our members live the best life they can with MS.

At the Samson Centre, if it needs doing, we just get on and do it. So we ran our first physiotherapy services in a village hall and our original oxygen chamber was installed and operated in the garage of one of our volunteers.

This 'can do' approach of our founding members (of whom I remain in awe) then saw us jointly raise funding for, build and move into our current home, the Guildford Waterside Centre, which we share with a number of local sports clubs and societies.

We have recently substantially expanded our oxygen therapy facilities, showing that the Samson Centre's desire to move mountains in support of people living with MS remains undimmed.

Today the Samson Centre has over 250 users of all ages. The Centre offers specialist physiotherapy sessions, exercise classes, a state of the art gym as well as oxygen therapy.

Beyond the practical support we provide, the Samson Centre also plays an important social role – it's a place where people with MS and their carers can meet, spend time and support each other. Those who join the Centre are part of a friendly and welcoming community. We provide a safe place where people with MS can share and support each other, as well as carers, friends and loved ones.

Like many charities, we are dependent on funding and the support of our hard-working volunteers as well as our dedicated professional staff.

If you or a loved one have MS, or are interested in how you can be involved in what the Samson Centre does, please get in touch.

Karen from the Eikon charity spoke recently at Friendship Lunch and her message had an impact on the folk at lunch, especially the ownership of mobile phones, that we wanted to share it with you.

The Eikon Charity is a leading provider of early help for children and young people in Surrey.

Growing up in today's world can be incredibly challenging. Every child deserves to feel safe, heard, and supported. So, Eikon creates safe spaces for them where they can be themselves and talk about their thoughts and feelings. Children understand better than anyone what's happening in their own lives, so Eikon listens, without judging.

eikon helping young people in Surrey

In the past 15 years rates of mental ill health have doubled (tripled in some areas)

Currently 1 in 5 children aged 8-25 have a probable mental health disorder (NHS England)

Over 100,000 children in the UK waiting more than a year for help (currently more than 12,000 referrals in Surrey)

Children need advice and support when things start to go wrong

£500 per child – saves the health & social care and criminal justice systems 100s of £1,000s

Eikon helps them to build the confidence and the skills they need to be safe and to thrive. They help early on, because it stops problems from becoming bigger. But Eikon is also there for them when problems have developed, and they need more focused help.

Schools, parents, and carers sometimes need help too, so Eikon works with them so that children and young people get the right care and support for their needs.

Everything Eikon learns from their work is used to inspire change for children.

Friendship Lunch Coach Outing to Southampton

A lovely sunny day dawned on Thursday 20th November. The Friendship Lunch and community all met at the church at 9.45am. There were 32 of us and Wendy prayed over us for a safe journey. We all boarded the coach with our lovely driver, Alison who we always request. We left at 10.00am and drove via the Hogs Back, A31 and the M3 via Southampton City Centre. There were still some lovely Autumn colours on the way. The traffic was kind to us and we had a good journey.

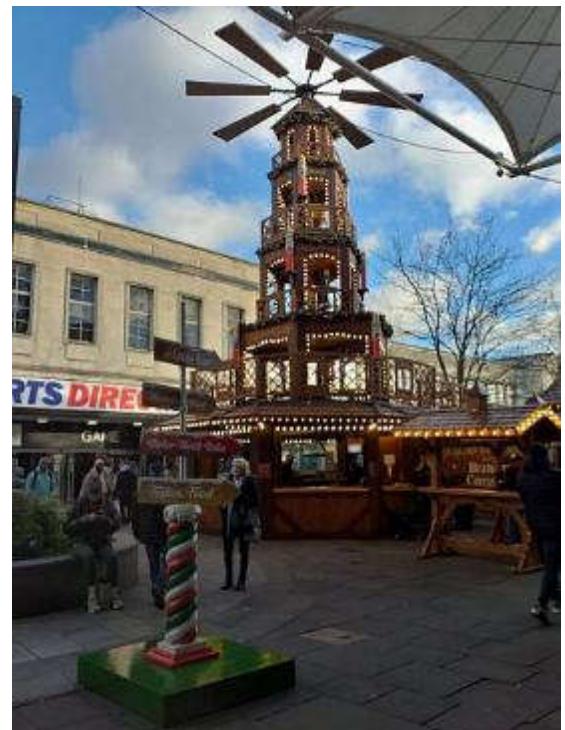

We arrived approx. 11.30 and dropped off right by the West Quay shopping centre just across the road. Everyone was free to go wherever they wanted. Our group consisted of Pete and myself, Chris, Joy and my cousin Jenny. We had forgotten how big the shopping centre was and I would have got lost by myself. We went into John Lewis and had lunch after having a quick look around first.

After lunch, we headed out to the Christmas Market. Very busy and bustling. Christine did buy some chocolate. It was still lovely and sunny and dry which is always a bonus.

We decided to have another drink before we left for the coach. We went into Costas', back in the shopping centre. We then headed back to the coach and all 32 safely returned. On our way out of the town, the sunset was beautiful, all over the docks and there were 2 cruise liners in.

We left at 4.00pm and drove via the M27 and the A3 and arrived back at the church at about 6.00pm having dropped some people off on the way.

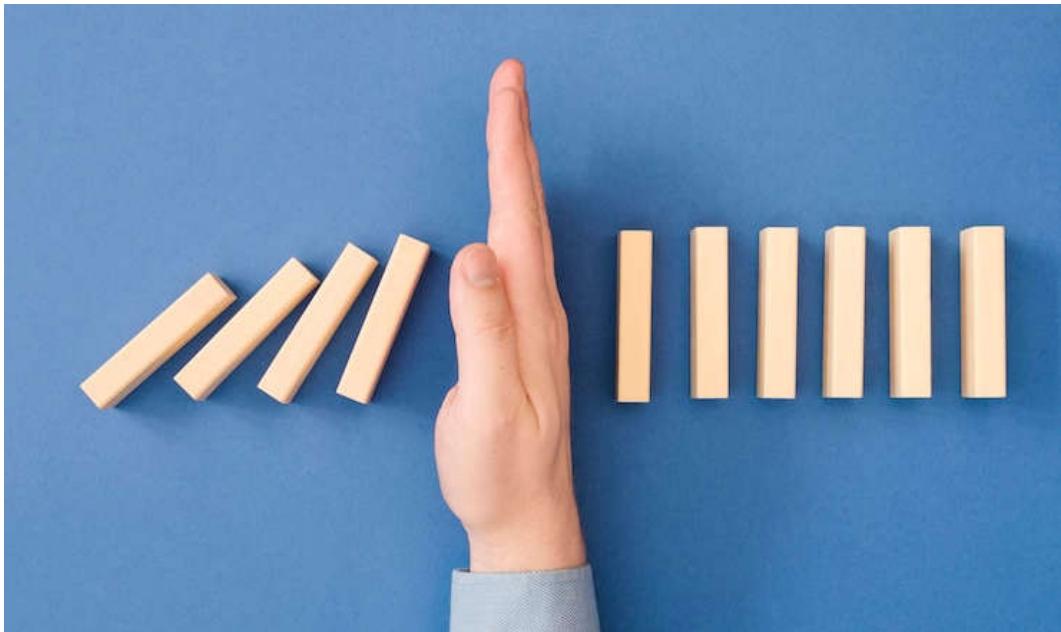

A really lovely but tiring day. Everyone back safe.

Look out for next year's trips. One in April and one in July.

Pete and Christine

BOUNDARIES

Led by Revd. Peter Jackson

Saturday 24th January 2026
10 am - 12.30 pm
(Coffee available from 9.30 am)
at Godalming Baptist Church,
Queen Street, Godalming, Surrey GU7 1BA

Is your life out of control?

Do people take advantage of you?

Do you have trouble saying “No”?

Why is it important to have mental, physical, emotional and spiritual boundaries?

How do we establish these boundaries, and how do we cope with people who don't have boundaries or fail to respect ours?

Come and explore some of these challenging issues that have a profound effect on our already busy lives, as Peter sensitively helps unpack these questions and more.

The session will be free of charge, but voluntary donations are invited towards the vital work of ‘Your Sanctuary’ providing support for victims of domestic abuse

Prayers

Morning and evening prayers

Psalm 5:3 In the morning, Lord, you hear my voice; in the morning I lay my requests before you and wait expectantly.

Today is a new day and I thank you for preparing it for me and going before me. I renew my trust in your unfailing love and the salvation you have freely given me in Christ Jesus. Please cleanse me by the blood of Jesus that I may start the day without any blemish of sin or guilt. May your Spirit enliven me and be my counsellor and guide. Remind me of your word and truth that I may hide it in my heart and feed on it throughout the day whatever it may bring.

I bring you my worship surrendering myself before your throne asking that by your grace I reflect Christ in everything I think and say and do through the day. May I have strength in my body to fulfil the tasks I have to do, the wisdom to make good choices and godly decisions and the blessing of your Spirit that all I say and do bring you praise that is due to your holy name.

You know my heart and my every thought. Please set me at ease that the things on my mind may not trouble me resting in your assurance that you have gone before me and prepared the way. I bring my morning prayer to you certain that you are my God and if you are for me none can be against me. In Jesus name I declare my praise and bring you my requests. Amen.

Prayer can often be a problem, if you struggle try starting small. Using grace before each meal is a routine which can draw to God's presence on a regular basis.

Father I give thanks that you are the giver of all good gifts. Thank you for daily provision and for the food you have provided for me today. May it nourish me and be a blessing as I enjoy your bounty. In Jesus name.

An evening prayer.

As evening draws in and the day nears the end I bring you praise for you are a gracious and loving God. Thank you for going before me and preparing my way, for being the provision I have needed and my company through the activity of this day. I am reminded again of your unfailing and abounding love, of the depth and sufficiency of your grace and the mercy you have shown me in all circumstances.

Please settle my heart and mind where I have been in difficulty and challenged, where I fear I have failed or not lived up to other's expectations. Thank you that I am precious in your sight and unconditionally loved. Thank you for those that I have been in contact with today, will you bless them with the presence of Jesus and a knowledge of his saving grace. Where I have seen or heard of need in this world which is beyond my grasp or ability to help please heed my prayer for your presence and blessing in those situations.

Will you be my peace and comfort as I come to sleep. May I have restful and unbroken sleep in preparation for tomorrow. I trust to you those I love and the body of Christ of which I am a part. May your holy name be exalted. May the name of Jesus fly like a banner over us and may your kingdom come and you will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Amen

If I get dementia...

Seven prayers

Dear God,

If I get dementia, don't let people talk to me like I'm a child but help them remember I'm an adult.

If I get dementia and start to mix up names or places, please help people around me to know I'm doing my best.

If I get dementia, please bring me people who will read the Bible with me or sing my favourite worship song.

If I get dementia, give me ways to keep doing the things I love like listening to music and seeing friends.

If I get dementia, please bring me people who will talk to me about stories from my past.

If I get dementia and live in a care home, please remind my family and friends to come and visit me often.

If I get dementia, please bring me people who know how to comfort me.

Amen

'Evangelism by Serving'

On the last Thursday of term the Ark Parent and Toddler team were given a Christmas card from one of the Mums leaving Ark this term as her son will be moving on to nursery. Tomila and Tymur are Ukrainians who have been with us for around 2 years. This is verbatim what she hand wrote in our card:

Dear Ark

We spent so much lovely time together. We grew up together and shared both joyful and sad moments in our lives. You have always been our source of strength and a place of warmth and comfort. We are sad that time has come say "good bye", but we wish you peace in your souls and minds. May everyone be happy and healthy. May your loved ones always be close by and know no troubles.

Thank you for your hard work and love.

With kind regards

Little Tim and Tomila

Send you lots of love XXX

As a team we endeavour to show the love of Jesus as we serve the parents and toddlers week by week. Perhaps you too are involved in some acts of serving, and may seldom hear appreciation or know the difference you may be making to a life. Be encouraged, you and your love may be just what is keeping someone going.

'Might serving be your gift?' A New Year's Resolution?

At the end of the series on Evangelism, we were encouraged to prayerfully consider what our gifts may be. Maybe you are unsure what serving covers, and how you could help? Maybe your life has changed recently and time has been freed up in some way so you are now able to offer a helping hand, even if it is occasional, under the umbrella of outreach Godalming Baptist Church offers to both our worshipping community and those attending our midweek activities? As well as the more obvious face to face help on the day, other types of help could be maybe preparatory - kitchen help for events - setting up tables and chairs, transport help, helping at the Ark toddlers group, coming on the rotas for refreshment help or the welcome team on Sundays, helping with the children on a rota for The Rock (Sunday groups), arranging flowers, visiting lonely folk, helping on our reception rota, baking cakes for Coffee Stop or even using computerised design skills to prepare leaflets or flyers for events that are not part of our Sunday worship, or AV help for Sundays and Life Issue events (especially there so desperately needed!) and emergency cover too for all the groups!

We have teams of faithful helpers and we work together to show God's love to those attending but we need you!! Anything offered that will help 'oil the wheels' of these valuable Evangelistic opportunities will be a valuable contribution. Does this speak to you? In the first instance please talk to or email Sally and she will give you more information or pass you on to a member of the appropriate team. We long to strengthen our teams so we are able to grow these opportunities and new opportunities for God's work in our town and so that Godalming Baptist Church can be a beacon of light in Godalming!

Thank you!

Following on from the above:

A very big thank you to everyone who provided food for after the Carol Service buffet. It was much appreciated. You may be interested to know that we had just one sandwich and five small cakes left, amazing that it was all eaten.

I would also like to say thank you to all those who serve refreshments, put up and put away tables, collect dirty cups and wash up on a Sunday morning. Gold stars for you all.

Audrey

Church Jobs Wordsearch

Dear All

For the start of a new year I have produced as a 'Thank You' from me a wordsearch of just about everything we at GBC are involved in (with apologies if I have missed anything in which you are involved).

Lower case words are not included in the grid, for example The WEB and FACEBOOK appears as WEBFACEBOOK. Nested words have their own place, for example MISSION and BU HOME MISSION are in different locations.

Have fun. Eric

Everybody Always-Becoming love in a world full of setbacks and difficult people

By Bob Goff

In his entertaining and inspiring follow-up to the New York Times bestselling 'Love Does', Bob Goff takes readers on a journey into the secret of living without fear, constraint or worry. The path towards the liberated existence we all long for is found in a truth as simple as it is hard to do: love people, even the difficult ones, without distinction and without limits.

Driven by Bob's trademark storytelling, 'Everybody Always' reveals the lessons Bob learned-often the hard way-about what it means to love without inhibition, insecurity or restriction. From finding the right friends to discover the upside of failure, Everybody Always points the way to embodying love by doing the unexpected, the intimidating, the seemingly impossible. Whether losing his shoes while skydiving solo or befriending a Ugandan witch doctor, Bob steps into life with a no -limits embrace of others that is so infectious as it is extraordinary ordinary. Everybody, Always reveals how we can do the same.

How To Set Boundaries

Master the Art of Saying No, Stop People-Pleasing, and Command Respect without Feeling Guilty

By Andy Gardner

Everything you need to know how to set boundaries and have healthy relationships.

Do you want to set boundaries without feeling guilty?

Do you want to have a healthy work-life balance?

Do you want to have the courage to say 'No'?

Are you fed up with people trying to manipulate you?

Then this book is precisely what you need!

Godalming Baptist Church library has a vast selection of books covering various life issues e.g. Bereavement, Dementia, Addictions, Autism, Depression, Self-Harm etc. There are also books on encouragement and guidance in life's journey.

Shining Lights Christmas

Guess who was Father Christmas at Shining Lights Christmas Party?

Recipe

CARROT & RED LENTIL SOUP

1/2 teaspoon ground Cumin
Pinch of Chilli flakes (optional)
2 tablespoons Olive oil (or similar)
1 1/4 lbs (600g) Carrots - washed and chopped smallish
5 oz split Red Lentils - rinsed
1 3/4 pints (1ltr) hot Vegetable Stock (from a cube is fine)
1/4 pint (125ml) Milk

A dollop of plain yogurt or cream to finish, if liked

Heat a large saucepan with 2 tbs olive oil, add the carrots, red lentils, spices, hot vegetable stock and milk to the pan and bring to the boil.

Simmer until the carrots are cooked, and the lentils have swollen and softened (approx. 15-20 minutes). Add salt and pepper as necessary.

Whizz the soup with a stick blender, or liquidiser, until smooth (or leave it a bit chunky, if you prefer).

Check seasoning, and finish with a dollop of plain yogurt or cream, if liked.

(This recipe freezes well.)

A Prayer for the New Year

God grant us this year a wider view
So we see others' faults through the eyes of YOU

Teach us to judge not with hasty tongue
Either the adult or the young

Give us patience and grace to endure
And a stronger faith so we feel secure

And instead of remembering, help us forget
The irritations that caused us to fret

Freely forgiving for some offence
And finding each day a rich recompense

In offering a friendly, helping hand
And trying in all ways, to understand

That ALL OF US whoever we are, are trying to reach 'an unreachable star'

For the GREAT and SMALL the GOOD and Bad
The YOUNG and OLD the SAD and GLAD

Are asking today; "IS LIFE WORTH LIVING"
And the answer is only in LOVING and GIVING
For only LOVE can make man kind, and kindness of HEART brings PEACE of MIND

And by giving love, we can start this year
To lift the clouds of HATE and FEAR

BY: Helen Steiner Rice

A poem taken from Shirley's collection of poetry books

"New Year Wishes"

What shall I wish thee?
Treasures of earth?
Songs in the spring-time?
Pleasure and mirth?
Flowers on the pathway?
Skies ever clear?
Would this ensure thee
A Happy New Year?

What shall I wish thee?
What can be found
Bringing thee sunshine
All the year round?
Where is the treasure,
Lasting and dear,
That shall ensure thee
A Happy New Year?

Faith that increaseth,
Walking in light;
Hope that aboundeth,
Happy and bright;
Love that is perfect,
Casting out fear;
These shall ensure thee
A Happy New Year.

Peace in the Saviour,
Rest at His feet,
Smile of His countenance
Radiant and sweet,
Joy in His presence!
Christ ever near!
This will ensure thee
A Happy New Year

Author: Frances Ridley Havergal

Born in 1836 at Astley, Worcestershire, Frances did not enjoy consistent good health during her relatively short life of 42 years. Nevertheless she composed numerous poems, melodies and around fifty hymns among which are the well-known "Take My Life and Let It Be"; "Lord Speak to Me That I May Speak" and "Who is on The Lord's Side". She died in 1879 at Caswell Bay, Gower Peninsula, South Wales.
